FORMER SHIRE COUNCIL BOUNDARY SIGNS

The Mission Beach Community Association is delighted that, as a result of your Government's decision to amalgamate the former Johnstone and Cardwell Shires into the Cassowary Coast Regional Council the Mission Beach district has one Council providing local governance and services and looks forward to a healthy relationship with the new Council.

We note, as reported in the Innisfail Advocate of 15 March 2008 you will give the opportunity for community groups to take possession of signage relating to the former Johnstone and Cardwell Shire Councils.

To this end we seek your approval for this Association to take possession of the Shire boundary sign formerly located on Cassowary Drive Mission Beach. We understand this was removed by officers of your Main Roads Department immediately prior to the Local Government elections and may be located at the Department's Townsville office.

Our proposal is to later this year have a Mission Beach amalgamation celebration where we would wish to auction this sign with proceeds going towards the development of the Clump point pontoon.

Your approval to this proposal will be appreciated.

Yours Sincerely

Dear Sir,

MISSION BEACH ENTRANCE FEATURE

The former Cardwell Shire Council commenced a programme some 2 years ago to erect entrance features to various parts of that shire including, Cardwell, Tully Heads, and Mission Beach.

We note that the feature at Cardwell has been completed and work has begun on the Mission Beach feature, that is to say basic block work and rendering have been completed at the Tully – Mission Beach Rd / East Feluga Rd intersection and that is where the project has stood for at least six months.

It would seem that, with a focus on commencing a major project, the former Cardwell Shire Council has neglected to complete projects which have been committed.

While the site is not the locally preferred site we would seek your undertaking that the entrance feature to Mission Beach will be completed prior to the onset of the 2008 tourist season.

Your early response will be appreciated.

Yours faithfully
